

Jason Alex Hill

These particular illustrations are based around the fascination with animals. I enjoy humanising them and creating characters based on their individual looks. Kinda like a darker version of the Slyvanian families!

I like to illustrate cards and various prints. Everything I do is by hand, created on a piece of heavyweight paper with a pencil, pen and my most recent favourite medium, pastels.

I've recently completed a children's storybook which I am self-publishing through a small firm in Leicester.
