Lorena Herrero is a Spanish born artist printmaker based in London, where she learnt and developed her printmaking skills. She is also a member of East London Printmakers. During the last years her work has a main source of inspiration: geometry and concepts such as lines, forms, symmetry and asymmetry, shapes and dimensions. Her compositions play with the idea of harmony and balance, with perspective and how to create forms and dimensions. In her creative process there is always an element of randomness which makes the composition more flexible and dynamic.
